EMEA with International Tax Conference 2026

Russell Bedford International recently welcomed members from across Europe, the Middle East, Africa and beyond to Amsterdam for the 2026 EMEA with International Tax Conference, bringing together firm leaders and specialists to explore the challenges and opportunities shaping the future of the profession.

CEO Stephen Hamlet and Chair Daniel Ryba welcomed delegates to Amsterdam, before host firms Boon, Stolp+KAB and Van der Meer kicked off the conference with an energetic introduction to the city while sporting iconic Dutch orange jackets, setting the tone for a collaborative and engaging event.

Stephen then shared an update on the continued growth and development of the network, celebrating a landmark year of growth across every region, surpassing USD $1 billion in global fee income and the network's recent shortlisting for Network of the Year, while highlighting the opportunities created through international collaboration and the collective strength of Russell Bedford's global community.

A recurring theme throughout the conference was how firms can adapt and thrive in an increasingly complex business environment. Behavioural scientist and leadership expert Ben Tiggelaar explored the psychology of change, providing practical strategies to help firms navigate transformation, build resilience and successfully implement new initiatives within their teams where there may be a reluctance to embrace change.

Tax developments also remained firmly in the spotlight, with Jeremy Mindell examining the evolving global tax landscape and the challenges likely to shape the years ahead.

On day two, attention turned to the future of the profession. Steve Cox of Concentric International challenged delegates to consider how data, technology and changing client expectations are reshaping accountancy and advisory services, while workshops covered topics including EU e-invoicing, innovation and R&D opportunities, audit developments, and the tax implications of permanent establishments.

The conference concluded with a session on succession planning led by Stephen Banks and Deanna Salo, encouraging delegates to think strategically about leadership transition, future growth and securing their firms' long-term legacy.

Reflecting on the event, Stephen commented:

"What stood out most in Amsterdam was the strength of the relationships that underpin our network. In a profession increasingly shaped by technology and virtual communication, there remains no substitute for face-to-face conversations. The conference provided an opportunity not only to discuss the issues shaping our profession, but also to strengthen existing relationships and build new connections. I believe delegates returned home with fresh perspectives, renewed relationships and a stronger sense of belonging to a network that continues to grow and evolve."

Alongside the conference programme, delegates enjoyed a range of networking activities, including a visit to the Heineken Experience, an evening dinner in one of Amsterdam's historic bistros, and a dinner cruise along the city's iconic waterfront.

Russell Bedford International extends its thanks to sponsor Platforma365 for supporting this important opportunity for learning, collaboration and knowledge sharing across the network.

Russell Bedford shortlisted for Network of the Year

We are delighted to announce that Russell Bedford International has been shortlisted for Network of the Year at the International Accounting Awards 2026.

The Network of the Year category recognises international accounting networks that have demonstrated strong business performance, global growth, brand development and excellence in delivering audit, tax and advisory services across multiple jurisdictions.

The shortlist follows a landmark period for Russell Bedford, which recently surpassed US$1 billion in global fee income and achieved growth across every region of its worldwide network.

Stephen Hamlet, CEO of Russell Bedford International, said:

"We are delighted to be recognised as a finalist for Network of the Year. This shortlisting is a reflection of the strength of our network, the quality of our member firms, and the collaborative spirit that connects us across more than 100 countries.

The growth we have achieved together over the past year has been extremely encouraging, and I am proud of the momentum we are seeing across every region. It is a testament to our people and their unwavering commitment to delivering excellence for clients around the world."

We are proud to be recognised alongside other leading organisations in the profession and look forward to the awards ceremony in London on 25 June 2026.

Thank you to all our member firms and colleagues around the world whose dedication, collaboration and expertise continue to drive the success of our network.

Sponsorship of the Gonet Geneva Open

Our congratulations to Russell Bedford Fiduciaire Genève on extending its sponsorship of the Gonet Geneva Open through to 2030. The sponsorship provides valuable international visibility for the Russell Bedford brand and is a fantastic example of a member firm investing in and strengthening our global network profile.

Russell Bedford at the Forum of Firms

Earlier this month, our Director of Professional Standards, Helen Bimbassis, joined PwC Middle East at the New York Forum of Firms to discuss the challenges facing the GCC accounting profession amid ongoing geopolitical and regulatory change.

The session highlighted the important role networks play in helping small and mid-sized firms navigate an increasingly complex environment, while providing a valuable opportunity to showcase the strength and credibility of the Russell Bedford network on a global stage.

Remembering Harris Kligman

We were saddened to learn of the passing of Harris Kligman, former Tax Partner at KRP LLP and a long-standing member of the Russell Bedford community.

Harris served on the Russell Bedford International Board of Directors as one of North America's representatives from 2010 and was a regular contributor to our International Tax Conferences, where he shared his expertise and helped strengthen connections across the network.

We extend our sincere condolences to his family, friends and colleagues at KRP LLP.
